

University Investigators, Researchers, Students, and Collaborators

IMPORTANT NOTICE
concerning
Use of ARIAD Regulation Kits accessible from www.ariad.com/regulationkits

Your intellectual property rights are impacted by accessing the ARIAD Regulation kits. You must read and understand the ARIAD Material Transfer Agreement for Dimerization-related Reagents Agreement before completing the registration process.

The University has entered into a systemwide Material Transfer Agreement (MTA) with ARIAD Pharmaceuticals to provide UC researchers access to ARIAD's Regulation Kits free of charge through its website. Certain obligations under this Agreement impact your intellectual property rights and your ability to seek future commercial sponsorship of a line of research related to your research directly resulting from your access to these kits.

BRIEF SUMMARY OF TERMS

The following summary is intended to highlight some of the terms of the Agreement.

Obligation to Sign Agreement: To obtain the kits, both you must log onto ARIAD's website at www.ariad.com/regulationkits/reg_request.html and create a user profile, complete the required information, including the kit(s) requested and the intended experimental use (Attachment A). You must then download the accompanying MTA that will be taken to the authorized MTA negotiator at your campus to be exchanged with the UC-ARIAD agreement. The signed MTA and completed Attachment A will then be sent to ARIAD.

Restrictions on Us of the kitse: You may only use kits for the research as described in Attachment A. Any other use will constitute a breach of the Agreement.

Non-Exclusive, Royalty-Free License: ARIAD will receive a non-exclusive, royalty-free license to any invention that 1) incorporates or is a use of the kits, derivatives incorporating the kits, or materials that are encoded by the kits or 2) is dominated by patents controlled by ARIAD. ARIAD is also granted the right to sublicense such inventions, by only to its business partners with respect to the kits. The royalty-free nature of this license means that you will not receive royalty income from such licensing activity, including any sublicenses granted by ARIAD. These kits must not be used in any research or with any other materials under which there are conflicting third-party obligations.